

15 ton Tadano used for its compact size on 1400 S. Michigan.

Imperial Crane is one of the nation's largest mobile crane rental services and hire companies.

Established in 1948, Tadano is one of the world's largest manufacturers of hydraulic cranes. Their longevity of over 50 years can be directly attributed to their adaptability to customers' changing needs. We have depended heavily on Tadano's quality equipment and reputation over the years, and have thus become a dealer in their line of rough terrain cranes.

Tadano's rough terrain cranes are known for their dependability, minimal maintenance and excellent service, even while working under the toughest environments. They have won customer confidence worldwide because of their productivity, safety and versatility.

Tadano's lighter, stronger hexagonal booms achieve exceptional lifting height and working range. Their AML-L load moment indicator is at the forefront of rated capacity limiter technology, providing superior operation monitoring and safety. The outriggers are quickly and efficiently set and their wide span offers high stability. The rough terrain crane is a powerful machine with a six-cylinder, direct injection, high output, water-cooled, turbo-charged Mitsubishi diesel engine.

Imperial Crane recently completed an outage at the Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant.

